

Annual Masorti Spring Study Weekend/Retreat 'Struggles with God'

Understandings of God in Jewish text and tradition

Led by Rabbi Jonathan Wittenberg

"There's something about the beautiful location of Caer Llan overlooking a Welsh Valley with the sound of swallows and lambs, and about the atmosphere of the building itself which invites spiritual reflection.

"Using texts from the Torah, from Jewish mystical literature and from modern Jewish theology we will study and think together about what God means, or does not mean, to us in our lives."

Friday 9th to Sunday 11th April

Please join us for a truly special springtime weekend of study, prayer and community in the tranquil and beautiful surroundings of Caer Llan, near Monmouth, Wales.

- ✧ Accommodation is in simple but comfortable family rooms, all with en-suite facilities. Shabbat services and the programme of study will be balanced with time to enjoy walks or rest.
- ✧ Full board is provided from Friday evening until Sunday lunch.
- ✧ Depending on demand, a programme of activities for youngsters aged 4 - 16 may be offered by a youth leader during most services and study sessions.

Adults: £170; non-sharing adult supplement: £30

Children 4 – 18: £70;
Children under 4: free

*This is an intimate, small scale event and places are limited, demand traditionally high,
so please book early.*

For further information or to book:

Email Yoni Gottlieb at:

masortispringstudy@googlemail.com or phone Rivka Gottlieb at 020 8346 8560

www.nnls-masorti.org.uk

Please state ages of any children, and any special dietary requirements or other special needs when booking.

Venue details: www.caerllan.co.uk

