Confidence in our future

IT IS TRULY INCREDIBLE to see how – even as uncertainties linger and as we adapt to new ways of doing things – we continue to connect and support one another at NLS, virtually and in person, through meaningful prayer, study and communal get-togethers.

Hybrid strength

Throughout the year, we have been working hard to create a hybrid experience of online events and Covid-secure in-person experiences. Acknowledging that each of us brings unique circumstances and levels of comfort, we have made it possible to:

- attend/pray at our Shabbat and holiday services either virtually or in our sanctuary;
- take part in our newly created online daily morning service;
- engage in stimulating conversation at our Wednesday Salons on the important topics of Israel, Jewish law, race issues, and much more;
- learn online with our rabbis in weekly classes;
- join in weekly term-time Cheder lessons.

We have joyfully welcomed new babies into our community, celebrated weddings, engagements and anniversaries, and maintained the strength of our conversion programme.

Unique and caring

And in this past year we moved through one of the busiest bar mitzvah and bat mitzvah calendars NLS has ever seen: 26 impressive and resilient young students shared their learning with us. Each had a unique celebration tailored to the family's individual requirements and circumstances.

Our team of NLS volunteers continue to support members who are shielding or in hospital, and providing shopping and company to anyone in need. We have been there, too, to comfort those touched by illness, sadness and loss.

Giving to NLS

We are proud of our vision as a traditional, egalitarian, open-minded and open-hearted Jewish community in the wider society.

In these challenging times, we are turning to you to ask for support to allow us to face the future with confidence and with a dedicated team assembled to carry through this sacred work for our community. By giving to the NLS Appeal you will be helping to provide the vital funds that ensure we include every individual and every family.

The NLS Appeal is our annual fundraising campaign and one of our main sources of operating support beyond membership dues and event fees. We are hoping for 100 percent participation from our membership, at any level of giving.

Express your commitment to NLS by making a financial contribution today.
